One Big Housing Conference 2018

Metropole Hotel, Llandrindod Wells
11/12th October 2018

Welcome to CHC's One Big Housing Conference 2018. This is the event of the year for many social housing professionals as it provides an opportunity for networking with peers across a range of disciplines who are dealing with the same issues and opportunities as you! This is in addition to two content rich days on topics and sessions shaped around on your feedback.

Our first session sets the scene for the conference's theme of 'growth and diversification with a social purpose' and is followed by speakers and workshops which will provide relevant insight on subjects including the rollout of Universal Credit from DWP. We'll also launch our latest research on the impact on Welsh housing associations, preparing for new programmes and legislation such as Renting Homes, and learning from those spearheading products including Rent to Own and Shared Ownership.

The result of CHC's Capturing Creativity Award will be announced at the conference and, as in previous years, we are hosting a dedicated Development Zone on Day 1. The Exhibition will also provide plenty of opportunities to meet with organisations who can help you with everyday challenges and share their expertise.

We look forward to welcoming you over the two days for what promises to be an exciting and thought-provoking event.

Policy & Programmes Manager

By attending the session delegates will:

- Be able to assess the potential level of rent arrears and costs to housing associations by the implementation of the scheme
- Find out about Benchmark approaches, and associated costs to housing management
- Identify transferable “processes” to help housing associations better manage changes and reduce future rent arrears.
- How to capture tenants’ views and experiences to inform improvements to the Scheme
- Produce recommendations on how to improve the Universal Credit process.

3.00pm

Workshops

Autism in Social Housing

Matt Howells, Outside

@outside_ed

As a contractor providing planned and reactive maintenance services to the Social Housing sector, Mi-Space has found that they are encountering residents and families who are affected by the condition known as Autism on a more and more regular basis. They partnered with a specialist consultant from Outside so organisations working in occupied homes can adjust their approach and methods to the needs of these people in these households.

By attending the session delegates will:

- Consider what constitutes Autism and its associated conditions
- Think about what is meant by the term “on the spectrum”
- Explore what adjustments should be made and considerations given when working in the homes of people with Autism

3.00pm

Workshops

Sales & Marketing 101

Amy Nettleton, Assistant Development Director; Sales & Marketing, Aster Group

@amynettleton1 @TheNHG_UK

Shared ownership suffers from a lack of brand awareness. Its reach has been constrained by the shackles of traditional branding, in particular poorly understood language and terminology. Together, we have an opportunity to re-define the shared ownership brand – resetting the way it is communicated. It shouldn't be seen as a last resort. Instead, we should position it as a choice – an option that is just as suitable, or perhaps even more suitable for some, than traditional homeownership or private rental.

Amy Nettleton is chair of the National Housing Group whose main focus is to promote professional Sales & Marketing in Housing Associations.

By attending the session delegates will:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Learn how to brand and market Shared Ownership • Develop tools and skills required to deliver successful sales and Marketing new-owner – occupier, rent to own and shared ownership properties • Hear how to present Shared Ownership as a choice to tenants.

12.15 pm	Working Smarter not Harder
	Charles Vaughan, Partner, Smarter not Harder @snhtraining
	David Spencer Suite
	You've heard the saying – 'just because you are busy, it doesn't necessarily mean you are productive'. With an ever present demand on staff and teams to achieve more, we recognise that in so many places, people are often under-equipped to optimise the technology available as well as handle the distractions of the busy modern workplace. This can often result in staff working excessive hours, experiencing stress and anxiety and, in extreme cases, absence. These are all signs that indicate the balance isn't always right. During this session Charles will share a range of tips & techniques which are helping thousands of employees and teams to gain control and significantly increase their productivity.
